Anyware Executes Research In Motion Agreement

TULSA, Okla., April 9, 2008 – Anyware Mobile Solutions, a division of MacroSolve, Inc. has executed an agreement with Research In Motion (NASDAQ: RIMM) which elevates Anyware to BlackBerry® ISV Alliance Member™ status. This arrangement creates a higher level of cooperation in both marketing and solution development, increasing the value provided to customers, partners, and the mobile eco-system as a whole.

Anyware's alliance with RIM is reflective of the larger trend towards the increasing popularity of smartphones and business applications specifically designed for the mobile worker. Anyware's mobile data collection platform, ReForm XT™, includes a BlackBerry client, allowing customers an even greater choice in choosing the right mobile devices for their needs.

Clint Parr, President and CEO of MacroSolve, says, "This alliance is an important addition to our partner set because it better enables us to provide the widest range of leading-edge solutions for our customers."
